ATTEMPTED HEAVY FORGERY-AN APT PUPIL.—Another star ing case of attempted forgery was brought to light yesterday. The torger in this case is an imitator of the notorions W. R. Cooper, and struck for a high figure. He gave the name of William H. Watson. At hearing before United States Commissioner

Hibler, the following testimony was elicited:

N. B. Browne sworn—I am Assistant Treasurer of the United States in Philadelphia; this check was presented this morning at my office; check was presented this morning at my office; it purports to be drawn by Lieutenant-Colonel David Taggart, Paymaster United States Army, and is dated August 21, 1866, No. 334, for $2350; the check was presented to the Paying Teller, Allen C. Michener, and reterred to myself; being familiar with Colonel Taggart's handwriting, I at once decided it a forgery, and asked the defendant where he got it; he replied that he was a clerk in Colonel Taggart's office; I asked his name, and he declined to give it. He afterwards name, and he declined to give it. He afterwards said he had found the check; being satisfied of the attempted fraud, I ordered his arrest, which was done; I have since learned that his name is William Henry Watson, at least he so repre-sents it to be; I am familiar with Colonel Taggart's handwriting, both from long acquaint-ance and the transaction of official business; the signature is not his.

The defendant, who was not represented by connecl, was asked if he desired to put any questions to the witness, and he replied that he

Peter Miles, a clerk in Colonel Taggart's office. testined that the detendant is not employed there, and that the signature to the check is not the Colonel's handwriting, nor bears any resemblance to it,

Sergeant Brodie, of the Mayor's police, testi-fied that he arrested the prisoner and took him to the Central Station, where he had a conversation with him. Detendant said that he had been but three days in Philadelphia; that he was from England, having stopped at New York city on the way, and that he had been in the United States but about two weeks. He further said that he had been boarding with Mrs. Fitz simmons, at Seventh and Green streets, which the Sergeant ascertained to be true.

In a subsequent conversation with the Chief

Police, he admitted that he got the check at the recruiting office in Front street.

The Commissioner committed him in default of $10,000 bail to answer.

District Attorney Valentine asked the prisoner if he had bail, to which he replied:-"I don't want it; I could get bail in England to the amount of £10,000, and if you send a despatch over the Atlantic Cable you'll find it so." Watson is a small sized man, of genteel dress and ap-

"HONOR AMONG THIEVES."-An incident occurred yesterday which illutrated some of the nice punctilios of the thieving fraternity. In the dock of the Court of Quarter Sessions were two individuals charged with burglary. They were new to the business, and none of the detectives could recognize them as before in their clutches. They pleaded "not guilty" when arraigned, and no more was thought of when arranged, and no more was thought of the case among the spectators in the court-room. About an hour after the plea had been entered, a "professional," who is fortunate enough to be at liberty at the present time, stepped up to a weil-known member of the bar, and, handing him $25, requested him to give his services to the two unfortunates about to be tried. He accompanied the fee with the remark that he had no acquaintance with the fellows, but, for the honor of the "profession," he desired them defended. The lawyer took the money, and stepping into Court, examined the bills of indictment, and discovered that they were charged with burglary in entering a dwelling and stealing five pounds of butter and several quarts of milk. The lawyer reported the state of affairs to his principal. Imagine his astonishment at the answer of the would be friend of the strange burglars:—"Let the fellows go up. If they stoop to stealing butter and milk, they deserve all the Judge can give them. Keep the $25, and go to the Judge and tell him to give them another year !" The disgusted professional turned on his heel and marched away, cursing the meanness of the men who had descended so low as to steal provisions rather than more substantial

EXHIBITION BY THE HORTICULTURAL Society.—The August exhibition of the Pennsylvania Horticultural Society took place last evening at the Hall, Broad and Walnut. There was an unusually fine display of fruits and vege-tables, especially the latter. The potatoes, tomatoes, and egg plants, were onusually large, and were calculated to delight the epicure. A fine sample of Lima beans was on exhibition. Mr. James McDonald sent a specimen of a new variety of tomato, which for size and solidity has rarely been excelled. Mr. Parsey exhibited sixty-lour varieties of pears, and seventy variesixty-lour varieties of pears, and seventy varieties of apples, all of them very superior. Among the pears, the Bartlett was the most advanced for the season. There was a small variety of grapes on exhibition, but those on the tables were very fine, especially the Hamburg variety. Of plants there was a full display, including some rare varieties. Altogether, the exhibition for the month was a success, and attracted a for the month was a success, and attracted a large crowd of visitors.

TENDER OF THE UNION LEAGUE HOUSE TO THE SOUTHERN UNION CONVENTION. The members of the Union League have been notified that there will be a meeting of that association this evening, at their club house, to discuss the propriety of tendering the use of their building to the members of the Southern Union Convention, which is to assemble here on the third of September. We have no doubt there will be perfect unanimity upon this subject. It is probable that other matters connected with the coming campaign will be brought before the meeting, and it is to be hoped, there-tore, that every member of that inducatial organization who can possibly do so will be present to-night.

LOTTERY POLICY DEALERS IN TROUBLE. In the early part of June, Mayor McMichael bound over, on the testimony of Francis J. Monaghan and others, a number of allered dealers in lottery policies. Returns of the cases were made to the present term of the Court, and within a few days the Grand Jury have returned true bills against the following named:—James Medison Miller, J, A. J. Lewis, John J. Collins, Henry J. Lanning, Joseph Solomon, Charles Kelly, Charles Carpenter, Daniel Epley, Thomas E. Luken, Henry Cramer, Charles Deacon, and Barney Watkins. The Court has fixed Friday next for the trial of the cases. E. Spencer Miller, Esq., is counsel for the prosecution.

ELECTION OF JUDGES AND INSPECTORS. The members of the Union party held an election in the various precincts throughout the city last evening, for the purpose of choosing Judges and Inspectors to conduct the election for delegates on next Tuesday evening. On that occasion there will be elected from each precinct one delegate to a City Convention, one delegate to a Judicial Convention, one delegate to a Congres-sional Convention, one delegate to a Representative Convention, two delegates to a Ward Con-

THE GREAT FORGER PLEADS "GUILTY."-In the United States District Court, yesterday, William Bingsold Cooper, who received $50,000 from the First National Bank on a Government draft fraudulently obtained, was arraigned on a bill of indictment containing thirteen counts, and entered a plea of guilty. Cooper acted under the advice of counsel, the testimony making so clear a case against him as to leave no room for doubt. Sentence was deferred.

SUDDEN DEATH. — Captain E. Forrest Koehler, lately of the 114th Regiment, died of cholera yesterday morning. The members of his late regiment meet at General Collis' office at 2 o'clock to-day to make arrangements for his funeral Captain Koehler had served during the war in the 114th Pennsylvania Volunteers

MYSTERIOUS DIASPPEARANCE.-A young woman, who has been living as a domestic at the residence of F. J. Sylvester, Fisher's lane, had a hearing at the Central Station on the charge of steaming a number of articles which have disappeared since she was employed in the house. None of the property has been traced to her possession. She was held for a further
